CEO, Jan Wahlström, comments

For the 2016 financial year, we are able to report strong performance for Dental Implant Systems and Diagnostics. Medical Devices reached approximately the same level as in 2015 while Trauma & Spine reports higher full-year sales despite a weaker second half of the year.

The Dental Implant Systems market segment reported a full-year sales increase of 11.2% to SEK 170.9 M. After a cautious start, the year ended on a strong note. The improvement was largely attributable to increasingly closer cooperation with key accounts. At the same time, we increased the manufacturing capacity as a result of automation of machinery. However, the growth rate for own products was weaker than expected at 9.2%, due largely to it taking longer than expected to increase volumes at the distributor level.

For full-year 2016, Trauma & Spine reported a 15.4% increase in sales to SEK 182.1 M. The largest share of the sales increase was related to the operations of Onyx Medical, which is included in the Group for the whole of 2016, compared with just over eight months in 2015. During the third quarter, a contract customer moved a product to its own manufacturing, which led to lower sales in the two final quarters. Intense work was conducted during the second half of the year to fill the freed-up capacity and new assignments were gradually put into production. A distinct trend was noticeable in the latter part of the financial year whereby several customers temporarily cut back on purchasing volumes in order to reduce stock levels prior to yearend. Nevertheless, the market trend in the Trauma & Spine area remains strong and the aim for the second half of 2017 is to again reach maximum capacity utilisation. During the latter part of the year, we started to see positive synergism between Onyx and our other operations in efforts both to attract new contract accounts and to generate more products from existing customers

The Medical Devices market segment reports essentially unchanged full-year sales, at SEK 169.3 M (168.7). We are now noting increased demand from our customers, which we expect to result in new assignments as of the middle of the year. Accordingly, a process of new recruitment was initiated in the fourth quarter.

Diagnostics' continued successes are gratifying. The investments in expanding Elos Medtech Microplast's capacity have led to favourable results. Diagnostics' sales increased by 25.8% to SEK 29.7 M. In a usually seasonal market, with lower activity in the final quarter of the year, Diagnostics trended in the opposite direction and noted a 59.2% increase in sales in the fourth quarter.

The global market for medical technology products developed well in 2016 and we are noting continued growth in a number of our segments.

Investments during the financial year amounted to SEK 34.6 M, including SEK 10.2 M in the fourth quarter. The investments were clearly targeted at growth, towards an increased production capacity and with a special focus on automating machinery 2016 was a year of many changes for Elos Medtech. We established a sales team in dental operations for Digital Dentistry, we relocated our head office to Gothenburg and the acquisition of Onyx is now integrated into the Group. For me as President and CEO, it has been an exciting first half year for Elos Medtech and I am looking forward to 2017 with confidence.

This feature about the automation of Elos Medtech in Denmark is separate information and is not part of the official year-end report for January-December 2016.

Elos Medtech Pinol pioneers the use of Industri 4.0 in the Group

In recent years, the automation team at Elos Medtech Pinol in Denmark has worked on a number of projects under the designation The Automated Factory.

We have created a dedicated team for advancing the level of automation in production. Although most of the employees are active in production, the entire workforce was encouraged to contribute new ideas for optimisation. LEAN is used systematically for all optimisation processes at Elos Medtech.

Investments in state-of-the-art automation technology

We have invested in a uniform system for goods reception and delivering finished products. The aim is to create great flexibility with a number of standard work benches, where moulds, robots and machinery can be easily configured to perform different duties from one day to the next. We have invested in useful robots from Universal Robots. The result is more efficient production through more repetitive processes and equivalent products.

Automation enables us to effectively satisfy the market's requirements for detailed documentation of production processes and to optimise product quality. We are currently focusing on using robots and sensors that automatically check each component after processing to replace manual random checks and measurements of components. We estimate that 50-80% of the manual random checks can be automated.

Dedicated to optimisation and automation

We work continuously to satisfy our customers' rigorous requirements by means of highly dedicated commitment to optimisation, automation and robotics. To date, we have significantly strengthened our competitiveness and increased sales, while creating a number of new jobs at Elos Medtech.

It is essential that our customers can trust that we manufacture high-quality medical technology products on the basis of quality-assured processes.

Operations in general

Operations in general

The Group's operations are conducted at facilities in Sweden, Denmark, China and the US. The company is one of Europe's leading partners in the development and production of medical technology products and components, such as dental and orthopaedic implants and instruments. Customers consist primarily of internationally active medical technology companies in the market segments of Dental Implant Systems, Diagnostics, Medical Devices and Trauma & Spine.

Continued growth and expansion is the focus for the Group going forward. The aim is to continue to implement global processes, Group-wide quality systems and certifications. The Group is working systematically to implement a higher degree of automated flow and measurement, and to utilise shifts better in an attempt to use the machines more effectively. The Group's strategy is to develop its own products which complement our customers' product ranges, such as various types of instruments. The range of these products is developing continuously and new products are introduced progressively. The organisation devoted to the sale of our own products was reinforced at the beginning of the year through the recruitment of five new employees. The investment is expected to gradually have effect, through closer collaboration with strategic accounts that contribute to continued high sales growth.

In addition to investments in own products, the Group continues to strengthen relationships with the company's key accounts within the four market segments. One step of this expansion is growth through acquisitions that complement the existing structure, which has been initially realised through the acquisition of the North American company Onyx Medical LLC, which was finalised in the second quarter of 2015. Expansion through acquisitions will continue to be part of the strategy when opportunity permits.

From 1 July, the Group has a new President and CEO, Jan Wahlström.

Sales

October-December 2016

Consolidated net sales during the fourth quarter amounted to SEK 133.3 M (136.0). Adjusted for changes in exchange rates, sales declined 2.3%. The weak end to the year was mainly due to inventory reductions by a number of key accounts.

January-December 2016

Consolidated net sales for the year rose to SEK 552.0 M (503.7). Adjusted for changes in exchange rates, the rise was 10.1%, of which the organic increase was 0.3%. North America and the Nordic region continued to account for the greater part of the sales growth. In the fourth quarter, sales showed a positive trend in Sweden and Asia.

The demand trend remained generally positive. The Dental Implant Systems market segment, which reported a weak start to the year, subsequently displayed favourable performance as of the second quarter. The trend for own products during the year showed growth of about 11%. Own products now account for some 9.2% (9.7) of consolidated net sales. In the Diagnostics market segment, purchases by the company's key accounts continued to perform according to plan and new business is being implemented progressively. In the Trauma & Spine market segment, the acquisition of Onyx Medical was the main contributing factor underlying the strong performance. During the second half of the year, accumulated sales in the Medical Devices market segment showed a turnaround from negative to positive growth.

Definitions of alternative performance measures

Alternative performance measures are financial measures of historical or future financial performance, financial position or cash flows that are not defined in the applicable financial reporting framework, IFRS. These performance measures are considered to comprise important supplementary performance measures for the Group's earnings and financial position and the aim is to create enhanced understanding of the operations. The alternative performance measures presented in this year-end report should not be regarded as replacements for terms and concepts under IFRS, but instead be seen as a supplement. These performance measures need not be comparable with similar performance measures of other companies. The consolidation basis for calculating certain of these performance measures is presented on page 11 of this report.
